Mikels Promoted by St. Lucie County Fire District

St. Lucie County, FL -- Daniel Mikels was recently promoted to Lieutenant for the St. Lucie County Fire District. Lt. Mikels started with the Fire District in September 2005, became a Paramedic in February 2007, and was promoted to Lieutenant in April of this year. He stepped up numerous times as company officer. He received his Masters Degree in Public Safety in the Spring of 2013.

“It is so rewarding to see the organization develop with individuals like Dan and others,” said Fire Chief Ron Parrish. “Lt. Dan Mikels, and others like him, are the future of the fire district and the future looks bright.”

Mikels is currently stationed at Fire Station #13 on Becker Road in Port St. Lucie. The Station serves the southern part of St. Lucie County near the Florida Turnpike. Station #13 also serves as a training station for all crews during recertification.

“I feel very fortunate to serve as a company officer for the Fire District and hope to maintain the excellent level of service and professionalism shown by previous officers,” said Mikels

Mikels lives in Port St. Lucie with his wife, Jacilyn, and their two young children.
