Lee Promoted to Lieutenant by St. Lucie County Fire District

St. Lucie County, FL – Firefighter/Engineer Jeff Lee was recently promoted to Lieutenant by the St. Lucie County Fire District. He is assigned to Station #3 on Ravenswood Lane in Port St. Lucie.

Lt. Lee has been with the Fire District since February 1997. Lee was named Firefighter of the Year for St. Lucie County in 2011. He is credited with using his computer skills to help fellow firefighters and the Fire District. He worked on creating a new electronic roster to help make personnel assignments.

“Jeff has been involved with several community outreach programs to help the needy,” explained Fire Chief Ron Parrish. “He has developed into a true asset for the District through his dedication and hard work both while on duty and while off duty.”
